CULINARY & DINING OASIS

The Ownby Design team was very humbled and honored to be asked to design the heart of the home in the ICONIC HAUS. The kitchen is an incredibly vital centering space to any home, that needs to be both a functional and inspirational place of gathering. We were inspired predominantly by the platform of the architecture in the home. We are always excited to work with the Drewett Works team, and this project has been no exception. We complimented the work of C.P. Drewett with clean lines, high contrast and a neutral palette as our foundation to build upon. As our team began collaborating on this space, our vision was driven by an emphasis on seamless indoor-outdoor transitions.

From the desert itself, to the many rock outcroppings and surrounding mountains, we strive to pull these organic elements into the spaces we design through a repetition of material, utilizing a neutral palette, rustic pottery and wooden elements along with clean lines to bring the modern luxury our firm is known for. We focused largely on the breathtaking views of Camelback Mountain that envelop the home. You will notice this inspiration in the blackened terra cotta pottery and large-scale flowering branches we curated. Our goal with this design was to highlight the use of rustic organic elements in a highly refined manner, resulting in a stunning kitchen space that is equally warm and inviting as it is luxurious.

WINE CELLAR

Carrying through the cabinetry from the kitchen, this wrap-around design provides form and function with both beauty and storage. The wine cellar wall with cabinetry to store bar and entertaining items essentially separates the elegant kitchen from passageways through the estate. Glass-fronts give the collector constant view of his vintages. At night the wine cellar lighting gently illuminates the space.

PASSAGEWAYS AND ARTWORK

In our passageway, we chose large reclaimed stone vessels from Pearson & Co to house the live plants we are bringing in to add an organic energy to those who pass through. We worked with artist Niki Woehler on large-scale, custom artwork to set the tone for the estate. Original artwork is a luxury and adds a sophistication and customization to any home. It's always a treat to work directly

ABOUT THE ARTIST

Scottsdale contemporary artist Niki Woehler, specializes in both organic, textural canvas works, as well as abstract high-gloss resin art panels and customized waterproof art installations emphasizing rich color that often resemble stone scattered with minerals. Her large-scale art pieces have gained attention worldwide and are currently represented by Forré & Co. Fine Art Galleries in both Aspen and Vail, Colorado; Slate Gray Gallery in Telluride, Colorado and Kerrville, Texas; and The Broadmoor Galleries at the iconic Broadmoor Hotel in Colorado Springs. Niki is one of a select few artists invited to show at the Found:Re Hotel.

Top-tier interior designers integrate her work into their contemporary designs. Niki grew up in Toronto, Canada and has lived in Phoenix since 1994. In 2012, Niki made the decision to follow her passion and devote herself to painting full time. She hasn't looked back since.
